Today, too many universities are competing with each other. The educational side is also financial. We know that there are a lot of famous universities in the world that are both knowledgeable and financially competitive. For example of this is scholarships given to students. They are provided to the extent that they can meet the other needs of the student's life and their life. Universities attract talented students with the convenience of copes. "The scholarship means I had a lot of supporters and I have achieved my goals so far. I have higher goals to achieve and I look forward to striving for them. "Receiving this scholarship means a lot to me. I think I have worked hard all year in order to receive this and it will benefit greatly with financial aid. A scholarship allows students to focus on academics, increasing their chances of staying in school and graduating on time. Students who receive scholarships have fewer financial concerns, more time to study, and a greater chance of success. A scholarship helps degree students enter into higher education without dependency on student loan. On the other hand, vast numbers of scholarships are provided for those interested in research like PhD program and also post doctoral research. Thus fellowships help us acquire higher education and in academic progress. Some learning doesn't require a classroom. Get hands-on with professional internships, or venture out into the real world yourself by studying abroad. While the terms scholarship and grant are frequently used interchangeably, there is a difference. Scholarships may have a financial need component but rely on other criteria as well.

Academic scholarships typically use a minimum grade-point average or standardized test score such as the ACT or SAT to select awardees.

Athletic scholarships are generally based on athletic performance of a student and used as a tool to recruit high-performing athletes for their school's athletic teams.

Merit scholarships can be based on a number of criteria, including performance in a particular school subject or club participation or community service. My biggest dream is to win a scholarship and study abroad. I especially want to study at Harvard University. There are many universities in the world and they all have scholarships. but since my childhood dream was to study at Harvard, I set a goal to study at this university. but another scholarship aroused interest in me. the name of this scholarship is Erasmus Mundus which is a scholarship of these three state partnerships and the student who wins this scholarship will be awarded diplomas of three state universities. this scholarship aroused a lot of interest in me and I started collecting information about scholarships. of course data collection has benefited me. I got all the information I needed and the answers to my questions. Universities also share the amount of sholarship. for example, if you win a scholarship to a university and at the same time take an exam at another university and win a scholarship at the same time, the universities will compete with each other and offer more scholarships than the other. AEA Scholarship Program

Limited financial assistance in the form of partial scholarship is available for new high school enrollees joining the AEA student community after February 1, 2020. Priority for scholarship is given to high-achieving international or local students with exceptional academic record, whose sponsoring agencies do not provide for full tuition. Scholarship requests and applications are considered on a case-by-case basis, and provision of scholarship depends upon funds and spaces available at the applicant's grade level.

The AEA Scholarship Program extends to students applying for admission to Grades 9-12. All applicants should demonstrated excellent command of the English language, high motivation and eagerness to learn.

Applicants for the scholarship program should submit:

Standard AEA Admission Application

Scholarship request letter by parents

Academic records from previous school year, indicating successful academic performance and behavior

Recommendation by a teacher from a previous school

Letters from parents and applicant student indicating motivation for attending AEA

Submission of proof of financial need (i.e. letter from embassy or employing company)

All scholarship applications are subject to the AEA standard entrance assessment and student's successful performance is a major factor which is taken into consideration for a final scholarship decision.

AEA provides scholarship for a period of one school year. Continuation of funding in years following admission of the student, depends upon year by year review of the recipient's satisfactory performance in terms of academics and behavior.

AEA believes that a positive and constructive working relationship between the school and a student's parents is essential. Consequently, the American English Academy may not continue financial assistance and enrollment, if school authorities conclude that the actions of a parent make such a constructive relationship impossible or otherwise seriously interfere with the school's accomplishment of its educational mission.
